and do what was right, but he said the enemies of annexation had stuffed their care with lies. The speaker claimed that the people of the United States were against the president's Hawalian policy. He claimed that the president of the United States is nowhere authorized to begin war. Mr. Castle attacked Commissioner Blount in a sneering way, charging him with twice inviting the supporters of the queen to revolt against the provisional government. He asserted that the people of the country had established a provisional government,

Resolutions Adopted.

Mr. Castle concluded by moving the following resolution, which was passed without dissent.

Resolved That we have read with surprise and regret the recommendation of the secretary of state of the United States to the president to restore the monarchy lately existing in Hawnii.

Resolved That we condemn the assumption of the secretary that the right of the provisional government to exist was terminated by ris refusal to resoluting to the secretary of union pending between the two countries, and also his assumption that the provisional government of its continued existence to the arbitrament of the president or of any other power.

Resolved, That we support to the best of our ability the provisional government to resist any attack upon it which may be made contrary to the usage of nations.

Minister Damon's Statement.

Minister of Finance Damon made the following statement in regard to the political affuntion and read by permission the following letter which he himself had written to a gentleman in San Francisco on the subject: "If you will lift the reil a little and look on the other side of Mr. Blount's musion and the influence that he has the power to use in the future, if may be just as well that I gave him all the attention and confidence that I did, and, knowing what I do now, I certainly do not regret it. the idea that Mr. Stevens was an hour too seen in recognizing the provisional government. Chiumns of newspaper articles have been written on it with the present result, that the American people are entiethed that he was not an hour too late. That is what the public want to know. Now for the other side. To my certain knowledge he collected more solid information on the subject of our jurisprudence, our system of land titles and tenure, even so far back and so does as into the intricacies of the Mahaleaward.

The attorney general stated that the executive council was determined to resist any attacks upon the government, from whatever source.

Guarded by Sixteen Cannon.

James Walter Butcher of the Sydney Evening News, a passenger on his way to San Francisco, was of the opinion that the Hawaiian government is simply laying back, waiting for the United States government to go on record. Great dependence was placed by the annexationists on the popular feeling in the United States. It seemed as well to be a clearly defined plan of the provisional government to force the United States into committing an act of war in any attempt at restoration. The eastle is barricaded or fortified and sixteen cannon are mounted in front of it. Officers of the army are not disposed to speak very lengthy of the situation. Captain Stewart said that the town was posseable enough, although there seemed to be enough excitement.

Her majesty's ship Champion reached Honolulu November 22 and her arrival gave rise to a rumor that the United States and Great Britain had combined and would establish a joint pretectorate over Hawaii similar to Samoa.

Prejudice Against the Ex-Queen.

Prejudice Against the Ex-Queen. Editorially, on November 23, the Com-mercial Advertiser said: "The Star mercial Advertiser said: The Star gives publicity to a rumor that has been current for several days that the exqueen has expressed herself unwilling to be restored to the throne unless she can be assured of the armed protection of the United States, an eminent royalist being the authority for its correctness. Considering the strong feeling against the exqueen that is daily gaining ground among Hawaiians as well as among the foreigners, it would be suicidal for her to accept the proferred restoration, even with the guarantee of armed protection from any source whatever."

Offers of Aid to Dote.

Offers of Aid to Dote.

President Dole stated on November 29 that the government had received bona fide offers of armed assistance from the coast. One was for service here in defense of the provisional government of 1,000 men and the other of 1,000 men. "While we don't need this aid," said the president, "the fact that it has been tendered as shows what the feeling is in the United States."

The Bulletin of December I says: "We are authorized to contradict the statements that the queen has had any communication with Minister Willis as a private citizen or that Minister Willis has at any time referred the queen to the provisional government for protection, or that the queen has had any communication with the provisional government on any subject."

The American Thankegiving day was duly ceinigrated.

FEDERAL ELECTION BILL

Washington, Dec. 12.—A renewal of the discussion on the Hawaiian question based on Mr. Hear's resolution of Monday was expected to be the feature of today's session of the senate; but, in deference to the desire of Mr. Cuilom to make a speech against the bill for the repeal of the federal election law the resolution was not laid before the senate before the close of the morning's routine business, and was allowed to go over until tomorrow, accompanied with a statement from Mr. Hoar that he was willing to let it be referred to the committee on fereign relations. The probability is, therefore, that when the resolution will be laid before the senate tomorrow it will be referred as indicated; but not until after Mr. Frye has expressed his views—as he intimated an intention of doing.

Mr. Cullom's speech against the repeal of the federal election laws occupied nearly two hours in delivery, his allusions to election practices in New York and particularly to Judge Maynard's action, led to a somewhat entertaining colloquy between Mr. Cullom and Mr. Hill in which Mr. Hill repudiated the idea that the action of Mr. Maynard had affected the question of

Mr. Steward declared himself opposed to the federal elections laws and then made a speech on the question of the gold standard—a speech quite similar to the numerous ones made by him at the last extraordinary session.

Admission of Utah to Statehood Discussed.

Washington, Dec. 12.—The day in the house was characterized by an amusing debate on the bill to admit Utah. The discussion began slowly and quietly, with speeches from Messrs. Kilgore of Texas and Morse of Massachusetts. Spice was added by Mr. Rawlins, the delegate from Utah, who, in his maiden speech, was listened to with marked attention by every one on the floor and in the gallerios. His remarks were strengthened with sharp satire and humorous comparisons and were frequently interrupted by laughter. The great success of the day was his apostrophe to New England as the country which burned witches, persecuted Quakers, turned out Roger Williams' and produced the gentleman from Massachusetts, Mr. Morse.

Mr. Rawlins was followed by Mr. Harter of Ohio in opposition. Although the interest flagged somewhat when the change of speakers was accomplished it was soon reawakened. The discussion will be continued tomorrow.

Little of impertance was accomplished in the discussion will be continued tomorrow.

Little of impertance was accomplished in the dorning hour, the time being spent in fillibustering against the concurrent resolution providing for an investigation into the personnel of the navy. This also ment over without action and will be taken up tomorrow.

The only actual legislation accomplished was the passage of the bill respected by Mr. Dingley, changing the method of making remittances in the postoffice department. Instead of being sont to the sixth auditor through the postoffice department. Universe to be hereafter sent to the authanditor direct.

SEIZED A FACTORY

THE RECEIVER BEING EJECTED

Anton G. Hodenpyl of the Michigan Trust company was seen last night and asked what the company's position was in relation to the fight over the Downgise Manufacturing company's plant. He said: "Our company is not in the fight. We have been appointed receiver by a court and took possession. We propose to carry out the court's instructions, as nearly as we are able. This receivership was not the result of any insolvency. It is a fight between two factions of stockholders in the Downgise Manufacturing company. One faction is held by Mr. Lyle, the other by Mr. Kimmerle. The statement that Kimmerle is a stockholder in our company is not true. We never heard of him until the affair came up. Mr. Kimmerle claims the other fellows are trying to freeze him out and he applied for a receiver. The Michigan Trust company was appointed and placed Mr. Hinsdell in possession us its agent. By the action taken by Mr. Lyle he has placed himself in contempt of court, for we are simply acting as an officer of the court and it looks as if he had hurt his case very much."

All night Monday Thomas F. Mc. Garry, attorney for the Trust company in the matter, was receiving and sending dispatches regarding the fight. As to on as he received word that Lyle and the 200 men with him had thrown Mr. Hinsdell out, he wired the latter to get the names of all the men he could and have them arrested for conspirary. It is claimed that Lyle and the followers have attempted to wreck the company and suit will soon be begun to recover damages from all who have sided with him.
